POWDERHOUSE PRODUCTIONS

Powderhouse Productions is a successful creative arts company that develops and creates award-winning entertainment for television and emerging media. Their firm fosters a culture that promotes both individual and team work to produce creative content that is distributed all over the world on TV, the web, and mobile devices. Davis Square Architects worked collaboratively with Powderhouse to understand their working needs. Their new headquarters carves out offices, work stations, and a green room. Combined with bright colors, changing geometries, and materials and textures, this facility is one that conveys the liveliness and passion of this hard-working group of media professionals and artists. ■
